It took several steins of bier, lots of singing, stupid games and much laughter to finish up looking like this.

It was Brilliant!

Have you booked your Oktoberfest Entertainment yet? No! You don't know what you are missing, it's the best night out I've had in years.

Booked my band with Langford Productions, they are Military Entertainment Specialists so you are with the best, and they have a great choice of bands, DJ's games theming and much more plus. If you want some references then they have lots from 'happy messes' all over the country.

Dig out the Lederhosen, put on the Beer Drinking Head, and head down to the party or mess for a night of Bavarian Fun, Frolics, and Games. Hosted by the One & Only DJ Penfold, this is a five hour show that is packed full of good, clean fun. The show is run as an inter-village competition between the two halves of your audience. Opening the show with a selection of swaying, cheering Beer Drinking Song's, Penfold will then feature a whole range of Bavarian Games such as "Wood Sawing", "The Beer Stand", "Nail's", and "He Taught Me to Yodel" to entertain your guests throughout the early part of the evening. When the games are finished, the winning village will be presented with a free barrel of Beer to help them celebrate their victory. The evening then continues with a great Disco.

Langford Productions The Military Entertainment Specialists.....What Our Clients Say!

SSgt (SSI) A Harvey RAPTC Sandhurst Sgts Mess

When I was asked to organise the WOs' & Sgts' Mess Summer Ball 2012 at Sandhurst I firstly thought that this would be a mammoth task. After meeting several entertainment companies Langford Productions immediately stuck out as the company to work with, a friendly and calm approach to everything gave me the upmost confidence and when invited to Sandhurst immediately started coordinating directly with the Mess manager asking questions relative to the event - fundamental aspects I wouldn't have thought of, further establishing my trust in the company and their event coordinating ability. The feedback from the guests was extremely positive - a good night had by all. I would not hesitate in using Langford Productions for future events.

Why Use an Entertainment Agent.....

The answer is simple your peace of mind!

By using a reputable entertainment agent to book your entertainment or event you are safe in the knowledge that should an issue occur it will be resolved.

Here's an example:-

Should your entertainer / band / act become ill and you have booked with a reputable agent, the agent will use every professional endeavour to replace the act like for like, with their extensive database of acts & trusted trading partners this does not normally present a problem. Also many acts offer agency preferable rates this can often save you money. Add to this written contracts and the agents's extensive knowledge of the industry, venues and acts and you can see why for true peace of mind it is essential to use a reputable agent.

Langford Productions are members of both major Agency Associations.

The Agents Association of Great Britain
The National Entertainment Agents Council

Both organisations are the trade organisations for the professional agent. All members as a condition of membership are obliged to adhere to the strictest code of conduct within the industry to ensure quality delivery of professional entertainment consistently.
